

Look like – About to

In English we do not often use To Appear, To Seem, we prefer to use one of the senses to give a clearer indication of how we have perceived the object or person.

It looks like a car
They sound like children
It smells like a rose
It tastes bad
It feels like silk

To Be About To

We know that the structure S+Am,Is,Are+going to+Vp1-to indicates an action that will take place in the future and it is not normal, it can also indicate that the action will happen very soon, sta per accadere.

If we can see that this is the case, all is well, if not we must use To be about to.

I put on my coat and say: I am going to go.

On the telephone I say: I am about to eat
